This yearbook is an attempt to show the different colors and shades of Katahdin life in pages of black and white . . .

SUPERINTENDENT'S MESSAGE

Congratulations to the members of the class of 1978. You have every right to be proud of your accomplishments in reaching the honor of high school graduation. Many of you will now enter the armed services and the field of work, while others will continue their formal education. In any of the cases, what is important is what you have begun while you attended the schools of S.A.D. #25; and that is a desire to learn and to continue to learn. Whether you have chosen to further your formal education or pursue the world of work, life will continue to be a learning process for you. S.A.D. #25 is proud and pleased to have helped you on your way in the never ending search for further knowledge. The challenges to you and your classmates are many, but the rewards are also attainable and desirable. We wish you the best and hope that you will return to the schools as interested and participating adults.

----- Mr. Ellis

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

I don't know why each year there is a message to the yearbook. I'm sure not too many people really read it, and if they do it is generally considered a literary endeavor second only to a used car ad. However, in the hopes that some poor soul may seek a qualified answer to life's many challenges, I'd like to offer the following, for whatever it is worth. I've never known a successful person that hasn't been involved with the hopes and aspirations of others. I've known many who have claimed success based on their earning capacity or the reputation they have acquired as accomplished practitioners of a trade. These claims, however, can always seem to ring hollow. Perhaps it's because their success can not be equated with being happy or content. Maybe they haven't really sacrificed their time, their feelings or their sense of security on behalf of another. If not, theirs will be a difficult life to look back upon. Don't let yours be. Start now caring about more than your select little circle of acquaintances — and don't keep putting it off. Get involved now! Someone needs you.

SENIOR'S of 1978 the class with class are like

SENIORS are like Tide-they get the stains out that underclassmen leave behind.

SENIORS are like Hallmark cards-they care enough to send the best.

SENIORS are like Dial Soap-Aren't you glad you know them? Don't you wish everyone did?

SENIORS are like Bayer Aspirin-they keep the pains away.

SENIORS are like VO₅ hair spray-they hold through all kinds of weather.

SENIORS are like Standard Oil-you expect more from them and you get it.

SENIORS are like alka-seltzer-try them you'll like them.

SENIORS are like a matel toy-you can tell, they're swell.

SENIORS are like Ford-they have better ideas.

SENIORS are like coke-they are the real things.

SENIORS are like Pepsi-they have alot to give.

SENIORS are like Pan Am-they make the going great.

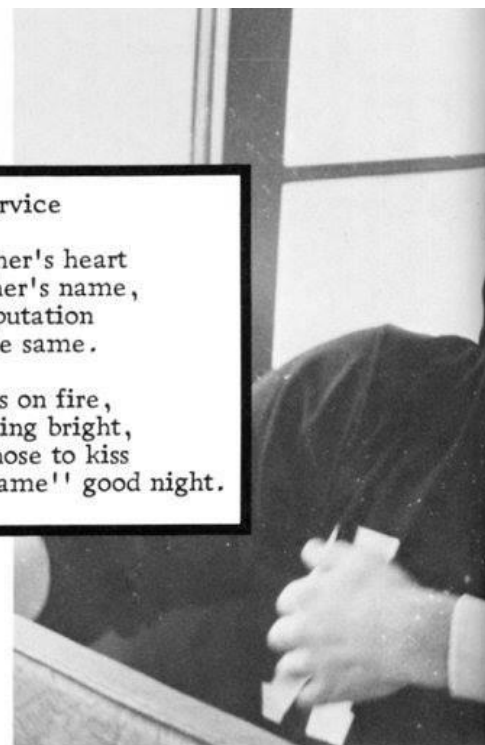

Lip Service

I broke my mother's heart
I ruined my father's name,
my brother's reputation
will never be the same.

I set the heavens on fire,
With anger burning bright,
All because I chose to kiss
"What's-his-name" good night.

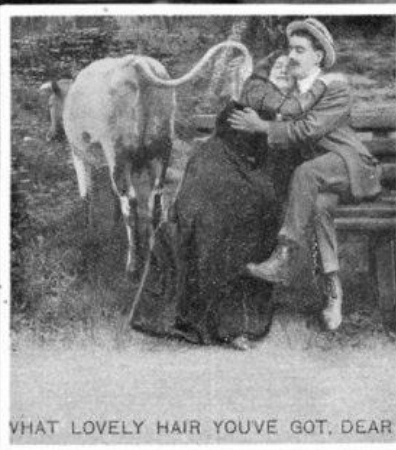

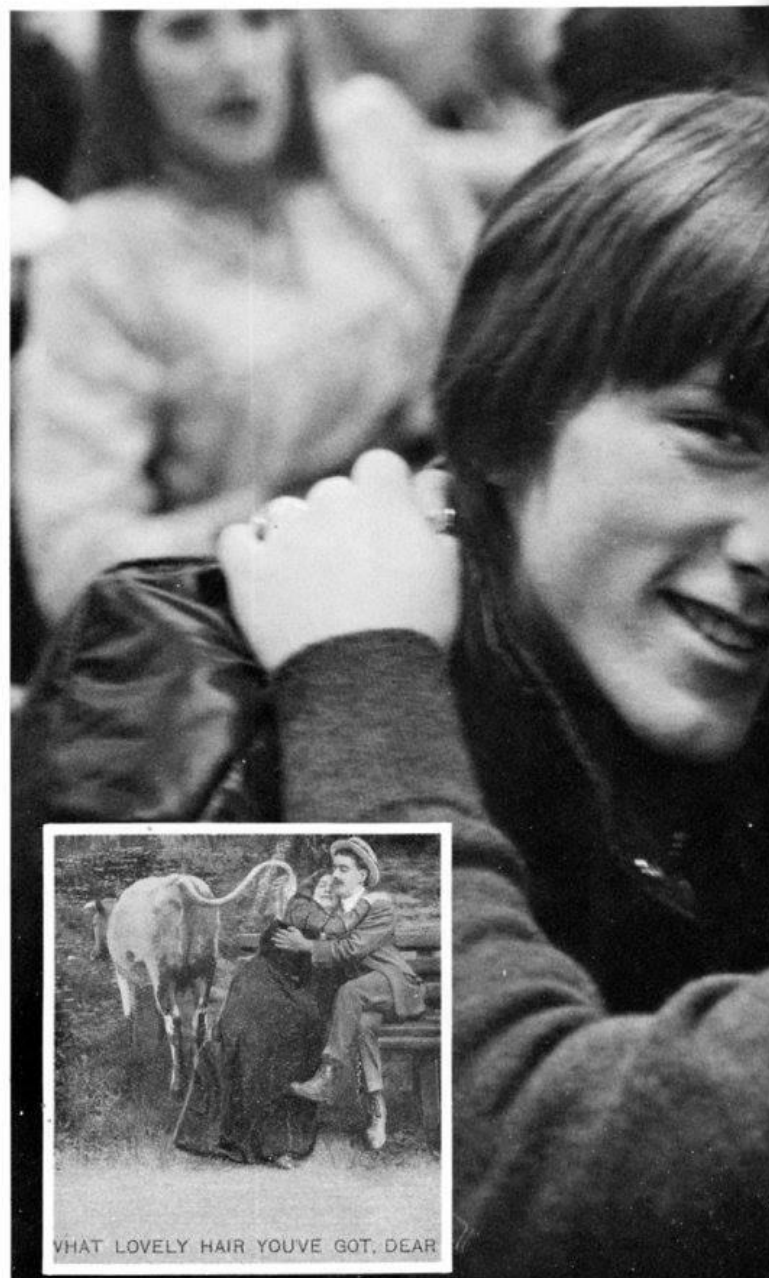

Upside Down

I climbed the door and opened the stairs, said my pajamas and put on my prayers,
Then turned off the bed and crawled into the light ---

Next morning I woke and scrambled my shoes,
Polished my eggs and toasted the news.
I couldn't tell my left from my right ---
All because you kissed me good night.

That evening, at last, I felt normal again,
So I picked up my mother and called the phone.
I spoke to the puppy and threw Dad a bone.
Even at midnight the sun was still bright ---
All because you kissed me good night.

Finishing Touches

Some finish first;
 And some last.
 Others live each moment,
 For the world is dying fast.
 Watching, Waiting, and Listening
 To the clock which rules us all
 Piling columns of happiness
 You know that soon will fall
 Racing for your destiny
 And trying to out run time
 Reaching the bottom of your mountain
 And smile as you start your climb
 Leading the world with your magic string
 And feeling you've got control
 When all of a sudden you lose your balance
 And fall back into the hole.
 Some finish fast,
 And some first.
 They go like an actor,
 With their moments rehearsed.

The Beginning Years . . .

The Inbetween Years . . .

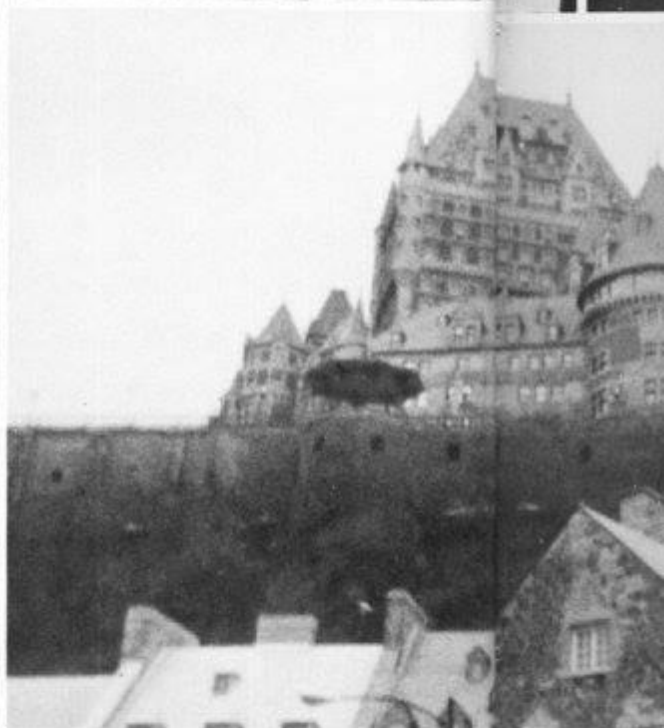

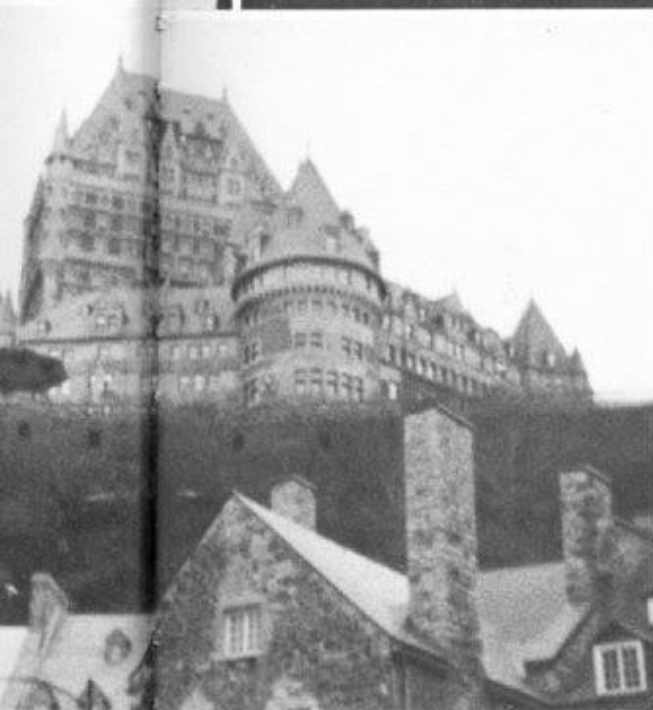

i am a child
all the world waits for my coming all the earth watches with interest to see what i shall become the future hangs in balance for what i am.
the world of tomorrow shall be.

i am a child
i have come into your world
about which i know nothing
why i came, i know not how i came, i know not i am curious
i am interested.

i am a child
you hold in your hand my destiny
you determine, largely,
whether i shall succeed or fail
give me, i pray you
those things that make for happiness.
train me, i beg you
that i may be a blessing to the world.

•Farewell•

I wish you good spaces in the far away spaces you go,
If it rains or it snows, may you be safe and warm,
And if you need somebody, sometime, you know I will always be there ...
